Each delegate and alternate shall be elected by separate ballot.

The total number of times that a person may be a delegate or alternate is unlimited.

 - 1. All delegates from the State at Large shall be awarded to a presidential candidate who receives a majority (more than 50%) of the votes in the Republican presidential preference primary election in the state. If no presidential candidate receives a majority of the votes in the state, then the award shall be as follows: based on the relationship that the number of votes received by each presidential candidate bears to the total number of votes cast in the Republican presidential primary election in the entire State; provided that a presidential candidate must receive at least 15 percent of the total vote cast in the State in the Republican presidential preference primary election in order to be entitled to any of the State at Large delegates. The State Convention held in the same presidential election year shall elect two Presidential Electors and two Alternate Presidential Electors who shall subscribe the duties of said office.

Any failure of a state convention to take due parliamentary action on a county's or district's proposed amendment at the state convention shall result in the same amendment being first order of business at the next state convention.
